

RITE TRACK

Rite Track engages young families through our Proud Parenting program and hosts several events throughout the year that build a positive parent-child relationship and provide on-going education for the entire family. In the spirit of Halloween, Proud Parenting invited its families to participate in a Halloween workshop that was both informative and fun.

This workshop supplied participants with safety tips for trick-or-treating. Each family in attendance received a Halloween Safety Kit which included flashlights, glow sticks, beanies and socks for the little ones, whistles, a list of safety tips...and, of course, treats!

During the workshop, families participated in activities focused on safety. Parents acted out possible scenarios that required their problem-solving skills while toddlers decorated and personalized their own candy bag... making it easier for mom and dad to identify and keep track of it.

Proud Parenting is pleased to provide our young parents with on-going family education, and is proud to equip them with tips and tricks (and treats) for staying safe while enjoying Halloween with their little ones!
